Natural Solutions

Natural good looks make Koppers logs a versatile solution for many landscaping requirements, blends beautifully with their environment to look as natural as the plants and trees that surround them.

Superlogs are straight, fitting together precisely and are able to be used in many different construction methods. Your Koppers supplier can help with construction details for a diverse range of projects, some of which are shown here.

Koppers Superlogs are made from a renewable resource, plantation pine, treated for protection from termite attack and decay.

Light and easy to work with, Koppers Superlogs can create a solid and permanent structure, integrated with the environment, whose strength and natural good looks will last for years.

Koppers guarantee it.

Koppers Superlogs are available in a wide range of diameters and lengths. Look for the brand on the end of the log - the sign of a genuine Koppers Superlog.

Parkland Solutions

Koppers Superlogs can be used in many situations to create a simple, natural looking solution for diverse landscaping requirements.

They are available in an extensive range of sizes, suitable for large and small scale areas, blending easily with many other building styles and materials to create a natural environment.

The logs are easy to work with, to cut and fit, particularly for difficult sites, where minimising site damage and upheaval is a factor. The natural material and colour of the logs enhance the natural surrounding and vegetation, with the added benefit that the logs hold moisture, promoting plant growth and aesthetic appeal.

In most cases, the logs can be installed by low skilled labour and once installed require little maintenance.

Insist on genuine Koppers Logs.
